SCHOOL LIFE

HOMECOMING

To his students, he is the life-raft to which they may cling when in danger of being swept away on a bewildering wave of homework and school activities;
the rock which serves as refuge from unkind words of thoughtless classmates; a friend in need, who understands when the frightening storms of growing up threaten to engulf us. Because of this, we, the Sr. Class of 1957 are happy to dedicate the 1957 ELK to Mr. James H. Allen.

In America's public schools, many and varied experiences await and are available to the students who attend those schools. These experiences include the academic, the social, the athletic, and some which cannot be classified under any of the aforementioned headings.

Of these the latter, the creation of a yearbook is one that ranks exceedingly high in importance and value to the students. Creation of a yearbook demands long hours of research, hard and unremitting toil in doing the large number of mechanical operations necessary in arrangement and paste-up, and the development of an efficient business organization to secure the finances necessary to defray cost of publication and sell the book.

PRINCIPAL

Running through the entire program for the creation of the 1957 Elk, was the unifying quality of teamwork and co-operation. Members of the Staff have learned through this medium one of the most vital of lifes many lessons and that is, service is a well-rounded and fruitful life dependent on working, living, playing, and planning with their fellow beings. That this yearbook staff has learned well such a lesson is attested by the quality and excellence of this 1957 Elk which you now hold.

The staff, individually and collectively, has earned heartrich commendation.

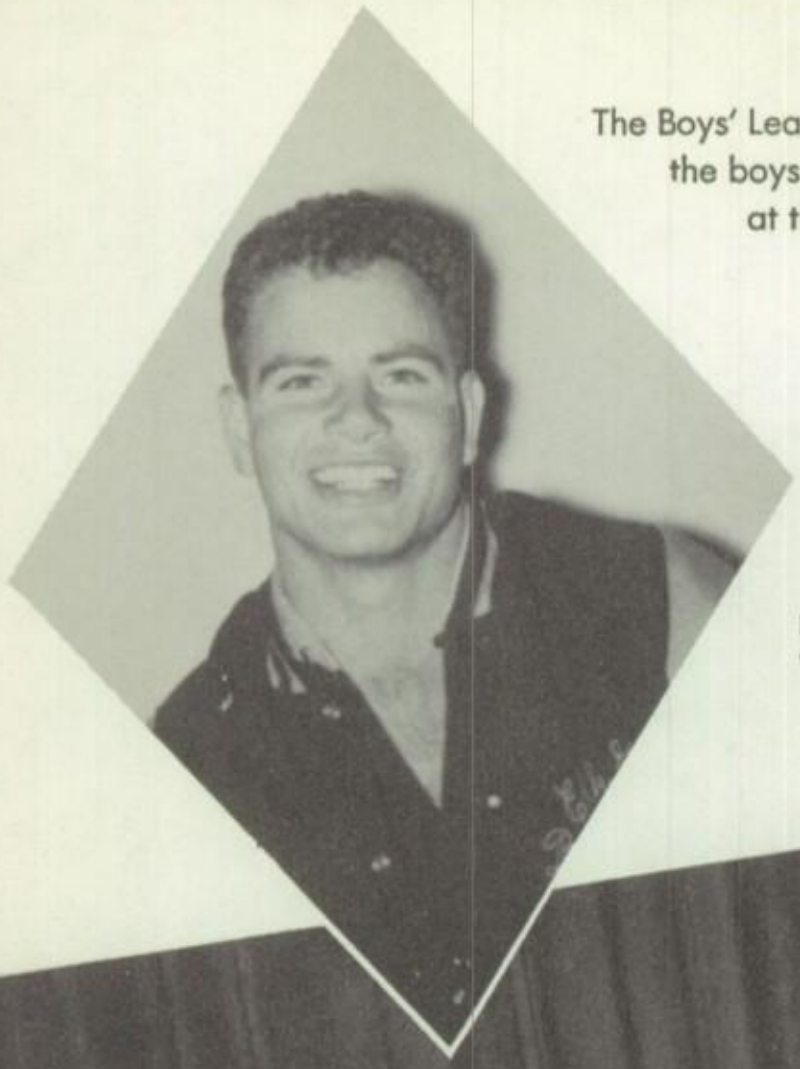
Steering the Student Body through an ever increasing stream of activities is the Student Council. The members encourage the purchase of Student Body cards for the benefit of all.

COUNCIL

J. Sprock, E. Smith, G. Hahn, M. Castello.

Special events were the Christmas pageant and the Homecoming Day project. Members also attended the Golden Empire League meetings.



The Boys' League Council is the governing organization over the boys of the school. Hall control and directing traffic at the football games are part of the duties of the council members. During this past year, their flood of activities included an after game dance, the Sweetheart Ball, and a talent show in co-sponsorship with Student Council.

Look into a certain puddle and you can see the Girls' League carrying on a steady stream of activities, from September right on to June.

Docked along the line of months, are many activities which include the Big and Little Sister Luncheon, Hi-Jinx, "Ghost Riders Roundup," the Christmas Program, and Mothers' Tea.

As this year closes, we feel the Girls' League has truly upheld their motto; "Friendship, loyalty, and service."

President
KEN SIMAS

The Block E.G. traveled smoothly through the year without many obstacles. Since the main interest of this society is to recognize boys on the varsity team who have earned their letter, one of the main activities is the initiation. Also included in their activities is the annual Block E.G.—GAA picnic.

The GAA had a very successful year considering the many high tides which they had to overcome. Because of the elimination of seventh period, they changed their meeting time to Monday and Wednesday nights after school. They also completely revised their constitution. The GAA had a very active year with many playdays, meetings and the picnic with the Block E.G. at the end of the year.

Like an ever-rushing waterfall, the Elk Staff carried on a continuous stream of activities throughout the entire year. Refreshments of all varieties were sold at the home football games to raise money for the yearbook which was under the editorship of Margaret Castello. The second annual Christmas Ball which the Elk Staff sponsored was a huge success with its wonderful music and magnificent decorations. The Elk Staff had a truly enjoyable time creating this 1957 Elk.

Representing a river of great capacities and abilities flowing at last into a vast ocean of knowledge is the California Scholarship Federation. One of the traditional projects of the C.S.F., that of a handbook for freshmen and new students, was distributed at the beginning of the year. Smart looking, blue and gold bookcovers were sold to the student body and various cultural trips were taken by the CSFers. Spring and fall initiations rounded out the year which, for the first time, was under the advisorship of Mrs. Elene Holmes.

The queen's attendants are Sally Sims, Deanna Sweet, Ellen Burkhart, Diane Vogt, and Pat Miles.

"Looking Toward the Future" proved to be an effective theme for the second annual Homecoming Day.

To start off the festivities, an enormous bonfire was set afire. The activities around the bonfire included yells, songs, and a tug-a-war between the classes.

The following day, a parade with a variety of entries marched down the main street of Elk Grove where many spectators viewed the magnificent creations of the students.

That night Elk Grove met El Dorado on the home gridiron and, although the boys fought hard, the team was defeated by their overpowering opponents. During the game, the winning floats and the queen and her attendants paraded in front of the fans.

Later, at the coronation dance which followed, the queen was crowned and she and her attendants were presented with beautiful bouquets. This dance concluded a most exciting Homecoming Day.
